BRAIN INJURY FACTS

“Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI) is an important public health problem in the United States. Because the problems that result from TBI, such as those of thinking and memory, are often not visible, and because awareness about TBI among the general public is limited, it is frequently referred to as the “silent epidemic.”

(CDC Report 2006)

Brain injury is the second most prevalent injury and disability in the United States.

(National Institutes of Health)

1.4 million people sustain a TBI every year, it follows that a TBI occurs every 23 seconds in the United States.

(CDC Report 2001)
